Course Description:

Spinning rings are both contemporary and mystical. Created from two silver rings; the small middle ring spins around the wider inner band encircling the finger. The spinning motion is perfect for meditation and reducing stress. Join us to create a unique piece of silver jewellery that will be a joy to wear or make a perfect gift and learn a range of jewellery techniques in one day. Suitable for beginners and more experienced makers

Gail Coxon comes from a background in Fine Art and Graphic Design, going on to study Spatial design at the university of Salford. After the sale of a previous business she discovered the joy of metalwork and within two years had started another business selling her own jewellery. Gail is part of a local artists' collective and sells her work online, at Artisan fairs and has had worked exhibited in local galleries and museums. She began teaching wedding ring workshops and one to one sessions and now teaches classes at Heather Fox's jewellery studio.
